We offer repair services to fix any current problems with your underfloor heating system that may be either causing a full breakdown of your system or disallowing maximum system efficiency. The Underfloor Heating Company London prides itself on being a premier specialist in all you underfloor heating needs. More and more families in the London area, as well as commercial properties, are choosing underfloor heating as a means to heat their home or business. Not only is it more cost-effective than traditional heating, it is also better for the air quality in your home and much less intrusive than a radiator. Underfloor heating means you can arrange your furniture in any way you please, and your home or business will be warmed from the ground up. You will notice fewer cold spots and a more evenly heated area. Whether you choose wet or electric underfloor heating, this type of heating system is efficient and quite reliable. However, problems with your system may occur from time to time and repairs will need to be made.

Underfloor Heating Maintenance Services

One of our main services is offering high quality maintenance services for your existing underfloor heating system installation. Our packages start at just £18.99 per month, and up from there.

You Can Rely On Our Vast Knowledge And Experience!

The Underfloor Heating Company leads London in the repairs and maintenance of underfloor heating systems. We are premier specialists in both commercial and domestic underfloor heating systems.

As you may already know, underfloor heating works by using either a water or an electric system, both of which evenly displace heat over the entire floor of your home, keeping your home cozy and warm.

Installing and running underfloor heating is also cost effective, saving you up to 25% on domestic fuel bills and up to 50% on heating costs for commercial services. If you're looking for a cost-effective way to take the chill out of your morning walk to the kitchen, The Underfloor Heating Company is here to help to get you setup, and then once you've got a good system running, we'll make sure it stays running at maximum efficiency all year long.

Wonderful Customer Service

I just want to say a huge thank you for your prompt response at this busy time of year. I am very grateful to Dave for driving across London to get to me this evening. He was enormously helpful over the telephone and in keeping me informed of the time of his arrival, and then resolving the problem speedily once here. He really went the extra mile (or 20) and was pleasant and courteous.

Great Service - Truly Tenacious!

David and Alan were absolute stars in figuring out what our problem was, patient and methodical - and quite honestly you would now never know they had been here - so clean!!!

Granted given the Festive period it took a little time to get things done but we would highly highly recommend these guys.
